Listing of Claims

1 – 9. (Canceled)

10. (New) A digital still camera, comprising:

a controller that controls an electronic flash which can change an irradiation angle at a time of a light emission;

an image sensing device having a photoelectric conversion function; an optical zoom unit that drives a zoom lens based on focal length information; and an electronic zoom unit that performs enlarge processing on signals obtained by said image sensing device based on view-angle scaling information, wherein said controller controls said irradiation angle based on said focal length information when said zoom lens has not reached a telephoto limit or a wide-angle limit, and controls said irradiation angle based on said view-angle scaling information when said zoom lens has reached the telephoto limit or the wide-angle limit.

11. (New) The digital still camera according to claim 10, wherein zoom information is generated in accordance with an operation of a zoom key, and said focal length information and said view-angle scaling information are generated from said zoom information.
